FROM THE DESK OF THE MD

In South Africa, absenteeism costs the economy more than R12 billion each year (Source: Statistics South Africa). The good news is that evidence suggests that organisations implementing health and safety initiatives reduce absenteeism by as much as 2.6 days per employee per year, with a return of R4 on every rand invested.

Furthermore, workforce health and safety positively affect companies' financial performance by: reducing risks and accidents, lowering absenteeism, improving supplier relationships, and increasing productivity.

Introducing Blanket Holdings (Pty) Ltd.

After establishing a major need for professional safety, health, environmental, and quality management services in the South African construction industry, Blanket Holdings (Pty) Ltd was established in 2017. Due to the observation of many unsafe working environments in the construction industry, Blanket Holdings made the decision to provide construction companies with a solution: a company that has a 'safety-first' mind-set.

By opening the construction division, Blanket Holdings clients now have access to a uniquely equipped and experienced team of specialists that adhere to the proper processes and procedures, ensuring a safe and healthy working environment for all parties involved in projects.

Although this was the company's initial focus, Blanket Holdings (Pty) Ltd has extensive experience within the construction industry, which led to a broader service offering. Some additional technical services include scaffolding, cold and hot Insulation, asbestos removal, and cladding.

If productivity and profitability in a safe and health work environment is important to you and your company, partner with us today.
